*FREE * PARENT EDUCATION NIGHT - Sidestepping the Power Struggle

Many parents struggle to understand their children's behaviours and try to find ways to change them which is one of the reasons their behaviour gets worse! When parents develop an understanding of who they are parenting (and every child is different), they become much more effective with their approaches. In this presentation, Dr. Allison Rees will give us practical tools to become our own expert. Using her 30 years of experience contributing to the well being of families through her courses, books, articles and private practice, Allison will guide us to: learn to work with our child's unique temperament, identify negative patterns within our family, gain cooperation from our kids by empowering them, get out of the nagging trap, and more!

Brought to you collectively by our PAC, in partnership with the PACs from Lake Hill, Northridge and Torquay Elementary Schools

WHEN: Thursday April 22nd @ 7pm

WHERE: Online via Zoom!

MEET: Tilly - Tillicum's Emotional Support Dog Extraordinaire

Where are you from? - I'm originally from Chilliwack, BC but moved to Victoria when my new family adopted me.

What are your interests? - I love to be outdoors and going on adventures. When I'm not working and helping Tillicum students my favourite activities include long hikes in the forest or playing at the beach. I also love to steal peoples socks and have them chase me to get them back.

What's your favourite snack? - To be perfectly honest I love food! I would eat just about anything if my Mom would let me. My favourites include crunchy cod treats and salmon!

Tell us a little more! - I love to help people! Especially kids. When anyone is feeling down I make sure not to leave their side until they are smiling again. I'm so darn cute it's hard not to feel happy when you see me ;)
